Motor Club Membership Reaches 2,000 Mark

55 Persons Added To Club Rolls

The Pocono Mountains Motor Club passed another milestone last night.

It moved into a higher classification when the total membership passed the 2,000 mark for the first time in history.

This came about when the Board of Governors, meeting in the club offices at the Penn Stroud Hotel, elected 55 persons as new members. The membership now totals 2,001.

J. E. Johnston, traffic engineering manager of the American Automobile Association, advised the club he would be unable to come here to conduct a traffic survey. He recommended hiring an experienced traffic engineer to make the survey and said he would come later and analyze the findings.

His name was suggested to the club by representatives of Stroudsburg Borough Council and local businessmen. He made a preliminary survey here last year.

C. H. Buckius, chief engineer of the Pennsylvania Department of Highways, will be the main speaker Monday night, April 19, at the annual club meeting. Gerald P. O'Neill, vice president, announced that music will be provided by Tommy Cullen's orchestra. A buffet luncheon will be served.

The meeting is open to every one interested in motor club activities.

Mrs. Cynthia Watt, secretary-manager, was authorized to attend the Pennsylvania Motor Federation travel conference at Bedford April 21 through 23.

It was reported there had been 40 emergency road service calls during the past month, 23 local and 17 foreign, costing $146.50. The local club is reimbursed for foreign calls.

The new members elected follow:

Stroudsburg: Arthur E. Arnold II, Mrs. J. L. Cohen, Mr. and Mrs. Fred Ducklow, Morris Evans, Mrs. Robert Fritz, Mrs. H. L. Keiper, Edward H. Laesser, Albert R. Neupert, Mrs. Granville Shiffer, Henry Stettler, Betty Jane Trumppour, Mr. and Mrs. Harvey H. Wary, Miss Janice Williams, Mrs. Nelda Gaffney, Ernest Anglemeyer, Ralph Barnes, Mrs. G. P. East Stroudsburg: Mr. and Mrs. Norman Johnson, Lawrence Green, Stephen Kanyeh, Dennis McFeeley, James H. Miller, James E. Shafer, Aaron T. Smith, Alvin L. Smith, Claude Cramer, Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Stoner and Russell C. Albert.

Dingman's Ferry, Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Delesio; Kunkletown, Miss Norma R. Pearson and Norman K. Pearson; Mount Pocono, Miss Lorraine Dengler; Scotrun, Mrs. Freda Pechatka.

Governors in attendance in addition to Vice President O'Neill were: George H. Costenbader, A. P. Everett, M. E. Leffler, Layton L. Rhodes, George Woodbaugh, Van D. Yetter Jr., Jess F. Haynes and Russell Eschbach; also Mrs. Watt, secretary-manager.

232 Voters Added To Rolls; Republicans Top Democrats

Monroe County voting registration lists closed Saturday with 232 additions.

It is now too late to register for voting in the May 18 primary. Next voting period will be for the November general elections. It will extend from May 24 to Sept. 11.

Among the new registrants, Republicans outnumbered Democrats.

Registration clerks reported 146 people registered as Republicans, 81 as Democrats, 100 by party, and one independent.

Those who changed parties were reported as: Democrat to Republican, 19; Republican to Democrat, 12; no party to Republican, two; no party to Democrat, one; and Prohibition to Democrat, two.

The closing day's business was sporadic. In the morning, clerks signed up 17 new registrants. In the afternoon and night, 58 were processed. Saturday's total broke down in nearly even terms, party-wise: 38 Republicans, 35 Democrats, two no party.

New election officers at 8 p. m. May 14 at the Court House will receive instructions on use of voting machines.

Firemen Appeal For Returns On Dance Tickets

Stroudsburg Fire Department officials last night appealed to citizens to make returns on their annual dance held some weeks ago.

Persons who have mislaid the return envelope sent with dance tickets may address their returns to Stroudsburg Fire Department, Box 189, Stroudsburg.

Assessorship Retained By Moyer Family

Long Pond Arlington B. Moyer of this village was appointed Townsham Township assessor by county commissioners yesterday.

Assessing runs in the Moyer family.

It started in 1920 when Mahlon Moyer was elected to the post. Mahlon died in 1941, and his son, Raymond, took the job. Last year Raymond declined to run again and township people wrote in the name of Mahlon's grandson, Nelson.

He was elected, but refused to serve.

So yesterday commissioners appointed Nelson's father, Arlington, the general store keeper here.

Youth Charged With Theft Of Lingerie

A 17-year-old Stroudsburg youth yesterday admitted, police said, he committed a wave of lingerie thefts in Stroudsburg, East Stroudsburg and Stroud Township over a period of six months.

Police from both boroughs and Stroudsburg State police reported at least 24 complaints solved with the apprehension over the week-end of the youth. Over 100 pairs of lingerie were included in the thefts, much of it recovered in the same neighborhood where the youth stole them off clothes lines, authorities reported.

According to police the boy admitted the series of burglaries last September. He told State police he broke into two Stroud Township homes, and admitted to Stroudsburg officers he entered a Ninth St. home. In all three places the only reported missing articles were lingerie.

Police, conferring together in the Stroudsburg headquarters, agreed to consult District Attorney Elmer Christine today for disposition of the case. Presently the boy is remanded to custody of his foster parents awaiting orders from county juvenile authorities.

The possibility of a psychiatric examination also was mentioned by police involved in the investigation.

State police had two complaints, Stroudsburg police 14 and East Stroudsburg police eight.

The juvenile told East Stroudsburg police he hid the garments in an abandoned school bus, but investigation failed to disclose the missing articles. Stroudsburg police said most of the garments stolen in this borough were found within a few blocks of the robbery scene.

In both boroughs the youth took clothes from backyard lines in mid-afternoon or early at night. Police said they had him under investigation several weeks and upon questioning Saturday, he admitted his part in all the thefts.

MONROE COUNTY WATER SUPPLY CO.

John Lord, F. L. Van Dusen Appointed U. S. Judges For Eastern Pennsylvania

Washington (AP)—Moving again to break the logjam in U. S. District Courts in Pennsylvania, the Eisenhower administration yesterday nominated three more judges.

Picked for the posts—subject to Senate confirmation—were: John W. Lord Jr., of Philadelphia and Francis L. Van Dusen of Montgomery County, both for the Eastern District and John L. Miller of Pittsburgh for the Western District.

A few hours later, the Senate Judiciary Committee approved another major nomination for Pennsylvania that of W. Wilson White of Philadelphia for U. S. attorney in the Eastern District. Committee approval usually is a sign of prompt ratification by the Senate as a whole.

There was some political surprise in the nomination of Van Dusen and some indications that one or both of the state's U. S. senators might decide to put some obstacles in his path to confirmation.

Neither Sen. Edward Martin nor James H. Duff sponsored the 42-year-old attorney who is slated for the post which James P. McGranery resigned in 1952 to become U. S. attorney general. Van Dusen reportedly had the backing of Rep. Hugh Scott, Philadelphia Republican and former GOP national chairman who has been an active pro-Eisenhower leader.

Lord, 52, is presently a Republican member of Philadelphia city council, has served as a deputy state attorney general and state senator, and was nominated for the judgeship held by the late Guy K. Bard before he resigned in 1952 to run for U. S. Senate. Lord reportedly was sponsored by Sen. Martin.

Miller who is 53, was nominated for the judicial vacancy created by the death of Judge William A. Steward. Miller is regarded as a close associate of Sen. Duff.

Sens. Martin and Duff had agreed on Lord and Miller more than a month ago, and so their confirmation by the Senate seems assured. But neither recommended Van Dusen.

Pittsburgh Area Chain Stores Cut Price Of Butter

Pittsburgh (AP)—Housewives here will find it easier to add more butter to the family bread basket.

Already one large district chain store has dropped the price of butter to 65 cents a pound as the government prepares to reduce butter price supports by 8 cents a pound on Thursday.

At a major downtown store butter was selling at 77 cents a pound but a spokesman said the price would dip "more than 7 or 8 cents" by the end of the week. He added: "We'll meet the competition."

Full Value Received

Full value for every penny spent can now be expected from parking meters on North and South Sixth and Seventh Streets.

Jammers, slug pluggers and tampering chislers must beware in these same areas.

New, improved mechanisms have been installed in the manually operated meters. They are the product of practical experience with all sorts of chiseling gimmicks and are rated "foolproof" against such depredations by the manufacturer.

That is good, but best of all we like the idea of eliminating those old chiseling works which short-changed everybody now and then.

Now it's 12 minutes for every penny. Maybe the "value received" operation will drive people away from tampering.

Discrimination

A spot which the Pennsylvania Fish Commission calls "Fisherman's Paradise" is due to open May 14 on Spring Creek, Centre County, near Bellefonte.

Trout will be the chief attraction for the Mr. and Mrs. Izaak Walton of this State—and therein lies our complaint.

Fish taken by men must be 10 inches or longer. The ladies are allowed to keep trout of only seven inches. Just another example of how men are gradually losing their rights.

On The Attack

The County Cancer Society's $4,400 goal seems pitifully paltry in the light of the grim statistics that 16 percent of the deaths in Monroe County are caused by this racking disease.

True, the 1951 campaign quota is ten per cent higher, but that is only a minute $100 in comparison with the destructive force of cancer.

For years we have been hearing about cancer. It used to chill the blood of listeners. People swayed away from the thought of the disease in panic.

Today it is different. That fear is generally dissipated. More and more people live through surgical and other types of treatment.

That is because the American Cancer Society and the County Societies have waged a sound, sane and very effective educational campaign in conjunction with great research developments.

Cancer is not whipped. But long strides have been made on attack methods which have brought people to a realization that they must fight—not fear.

That fight is everybody's fight . . . psychologically and practically.

From the practical viewpoint, the best defense is always a good attack.

For that reason there should be no delay in the attack with your prompt and generous contributions to the 1954 cancer crusade $4,400 fund.

The Once Over

—by H. I. Phillips

WE CAN'T WAIT

The inquiry into the Army-McCarthy case will be televised, unless there is a late change in plans. This will be the first time TV has been called on to produce a show combining "Quiz Kids," "Rumpus Room," "Saddle Scouts," "Western Roundup" and Long Island wrestling. Few people will see it via color video, but there will be plenty of red faces visible in black and white.

This should cancel out many daytime TV shows. Even the morning cooking programs which specialize in hot dishes, revealing how long to keep a high flame, whether Tabasco sauce is needed and just what to add to a stew to make it go around will find a direct challenge. The very instruction "Beat the eggs well" and "Run through a mincer" and a cooking program could be mistaken for proceedings in the Senate subcommittee performance. As we see it the hearings will begin just ahead of "Strike It Rich" and "Queen for a Day," crowd "Bride and Groom," and "Hawkins Falls" off the track and wreck Garry Moore, (Tex and Jinx and "Double or Nothing" may benefit through the committee lunch recess, but the Senators should get back in time to telescope Art Linkletter.) Just when it's time for Kate Smith, the TV audience may look for a moon over the mountain and see Camp Gordon over David Schine, Secretary Stevens over Cohn and the Democrats over McCarthy.

This can kill video. (It also can kill Senate subcommittees. Come to think of it, it could kill both.) No wrestling program has ever before been scheduled coast-to-coast in such a big way. The Senate subcommittee TV show will have a big advantage in public appeal. It will offer the TV fans ONE video program which doesn't open with a stereotyped dance ensemble and go immediately into a ballet or a Spanish dance. And (this seems incredible to TV watchers) at no point will the Senators' performance be required by contract to halt the show and introduce Ray Block or any other orchestra leader. As we understand it there will be no commercials. This despite the fact there have been offers to Joe McCarthy from sponsors who want him to be shown shaving and endorsing a razor blade. Senator Mundt has been propositioned to say how the right cigarette

DARK BROWN TASTE

Robert S. Allen Reports

Brownell Seeks Sponsor For Wire-Tapping Bill

Washington—Attorney General Herbert Brownell has run into a stone wall in the Senate on his long-pending bill to legalize wire-tapping evidence.

He is having a difficult time finding an acceptable sponsor for the measure.

Senator Joe McCarthy eagerly offered to introduce it, but he has been firmly turned down. The Administration emphatically does not want the turbulent Wisconsin's name attached to this legislation, on the ground it is controversial enough as it is.

Although Brownell proposed legalizing wire-tapping a year ago, little has been done on the matter as a whole and his particular bill has gotten nowhere at all.

The key provision of this measure appears to be the big stumbling block.

This is Brownell's insistence that the Attorney General be vested with the controlling decision over the use of wire-tapping in espionage and other national security cases.

A House Judiciary Subcommittee, headed by Representative Kenneth Keating (R. N. Y.), after a number of private discussions, one of them with Brownell, has flatly rejected his demand. Instead, the group approved a bill sponsored by Keating placing authority over wire-tapping wholly in the hands of the federal courts. This unannounced action is virtually certain to be accepted by the full Judiciary Committee.

In the Senate, Brownell's prospects for getting any wire-tapping legislation seem even worse.

Not only is he having difficulty getting an acceptable sponsor for his bill, but nothing has been done on several other measures that have been introduced. One of them, by Senator Alexander Wiley (R. Wis.), chairman of the Foreign Relations Committee, is very similar to Representative Keating's bill.

But the Senate Judiciary Committee has, in effect, ignored the legislation and there is no indication anything will be done about it.

Sad Tale — Brownell personally related his tribulations at a private meeting of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

He asked for this session to discuss internal security problems confronting the Justice Department. One of them involves an espionage case that is largely dependent on wire-tapping evidence. Brownell cited this as a graphic illustration of the urgent need for his legislation.

"It is of the utmost importance for the nation's security," he contended, "that this session of Congress approve two bills. One, to give the Attorney General authority to employ wire-tapping for prosecution purposes, and the other bill to extend immunity to witnesses who are willing to testify before grand juries and congressional committees."

"Don't you have a bill to legalize wire-tapping?" asked Senator Harley Kilgore (D. W. Va.). "Whatever became of it? I'm a member of the Judiciary Committee, but I haven't heard anything about it there."

George Sokolsky Says...

Elevation Of Sex Deviate To A Class; Use Of Character Slurs Must Be Ended

Apparently these days, when there is no other explanation for ordinary friendships, for loyalties between men and men, when there is no other explanation for the simple forms of social life, we all go Freudian and hurl accusations of sex perversion and confusion.

Let no man cast the first stone on this particular subject; we have all been guilty of this.

Lady Astor turned on me the other day, demanding whether there was nothing else to talk about, to write about, to make movies about, but distortions of sex relationships. The answer to that question is none too easy because obviously we are suffering from a cheapening of morals and manners, from frankness run riot, from language reduced to ugly simplicity. Even the word, romance, so beautiful in all tongues, has fallen from its lofty heights of emotional living, of joys and sighs and tears to a euphemism for experiments in sex relationship prior to marriage.

The homosexual vogue is probably exaggerated all out of proportion, there being no acceptable statistics on the subject in this or any other country. The two Kinsey reports cannot be accepted as informative; they are speculative treatises based on obviously inadequate data. In the six decades that I have traversed this vale of chaotic human relationships, I have personally known only three sex deviates, two males and one female, and most unhappy people they were.

There may have been more, but I would not know. Apparently most such persons do not wear their weaknesses on their shirt sleeves any more than the rest of us do. The sex deviate who is arrested by the police is more rare than the person arrested for sundry crimes against property.

I am certain that in the places I visit for an evening snack I have encountered nearly all the blazoned in the Jelke Case, but I would not know how to recognize them. They dress as well and speak as well as their betters. In my childhood and youth, it was different; bad girls advertised themselves as such, hoping to do better business that way. Younger men tell me that it is all different now; that you never can tell.

The revolt against mid-Victorian manners seemed interesting and even important in the second decade of the Twentieth Century and apparently reached a state of anarchy during the Prohibition years, but usually the pendulum swings back to a same approach to manners which are an outward manifestation of morals. Frustrated and frightened people are apparently impelled to exhibit themselves to prove that they exist; the adjusted, peaceful soul is willing to conform to the ways of his society lest extraordinary personal conduct interfere with the calmness of his existence. Life within the family requires no exhibitionism if the family unit is happy.

Looking At Life

—by Erich Brandeis

Too many doctors are trying to prolong their patients' lives by making their lives miserable for them.

That is what Dr. William D. Stroud of Philadelphia, one of the nation's leading heart specialists, told the graduate medical assembly of New Orleans.

He was referring especially to men and women who had had heart attacks. "Don't eat ice cream; don't drink; don't smoke," he said. "It's just like saying go to church but skip the revival; read the Bible but skip the exciting parts."

Dr. Stroud said that it is wise to do EVERYTHING in moderation—whether you have heart trouble or not. But don't put your patient on a "do nothing diet."

That advice, to do everything in moderation, is one of the best pieces of counsel ever given to man.

Having been an inveterate pipe smoker, I asked my heart specialist, the noted Dr. H. M. Marvin of Yale, some years ago after I had a heart attack whether I would have to give up smoking entirely.

"Smoke in moderation," he said. "I believe that wanting to do something very badly and not being allowed to do it hurts your nerves more than moderate smoking."

He quit his job, joined up with another ulcerite, and together they rented a building right in Westport and started their own advertising agency.

It didn't take any longer, they figured, to get from New York to Westport (if any of their clients wanted to see them) than from Westport to New York.

And since many of the good artists and advertising men live in Westport, anyway, the idea ought to be a big success.

His income may be a bit smaller, but he can sleep an hour longer in the morning and get home that much earlier in the evening.

I don't know how his wife likes the idea. There is a song "It's so nice to have a man around the house"—but not too much. Commuters' wives seem to be pretty happy people.

Constitution Drawn For Practicality

—by Leonard Randolph

It has become the fashion these days to dismiss anyone who talks of the U. S. Constitution as a dreamer or an idealist. The terms nearly always carry with them a little of our knowledge or entertainment. Curiosity once satisfied, the exhibitionism palls and somehow one wants to cleanse himself. When manners go, it is not that we are free; it is rather that we do not know what to do and how to behave. The disorders, in time, extend themselves to the whole of society and we become as confused in politics and economics as in our personal behavior. When any society is disorderly in its conduct, it is not likely that the thinking of the period will be logical.

The current overemphasis upon sex exhibitionism, particularly in its less usual manifestations, the diversion from family life to chaotic individualism, the insistence upon telling all in its grotesqueness has ceased to be interesting or amusing. The elevation of the sex deviate to a class and the use of slurs on character for political purpose have reached an extremity of ugliness that ought no longer be condoned by public opinion. Let's clean it up!

On the upward march, most civilizations tend to be puritanical; during what might be called a mature period in a civilization, when wealth and luxury are plentifully distributed, manners become loose and morals disappear from family life. This is decay and can only lead to the death of a people.

In accusing our present interpretations of the Constitution of idealism, however, these same faint-hearted critics invariably end up by saying that the men who wrote the document were dreaming of a "Utopia" which could not, does not and cannot exist. It is at this point, specifically, that their argument splits apart of its own volition.

To my way of thinking there is nothing "idealistic" about the documents which make up our system of rights, privileges and laws. I do not believe the first congress was daydreaming when it passed the "Bill of Rights." Instead, quite the opposite is true.

For Jefferson and the others recognized that the American republic was the closest thing to a free, just and equal land the world had known. They wanted to keep it that way. It was a thoroughly practical form and one which could stand severe tests. Those tests, they knew, were sure to come.

But they recognized, also, the constancy of the desire in most men to close the mouths of those whose beliefs were momentarily unpopular. There was nothing new about this. It was one of the things which had caused their fathers and themselves to run from tyranny and, in the end, openly revolt against the tyrant's over-reaching arm. They knew, also, that just as the idea was not new, it would never grow old and die and rot itself out of existence. It was in this spirit that the Bill of Rights was born.

Call it idealism if you like. You may also call it good, old-fashioned cynicism—the kind that is capable of recognizing the devil in self-righteous men. But it was more than either of these. It was both dream and reality; optimism and pessimism. It was supreme trust in Man's motives and acute distrust of Man's methods.

It was the moral backbone of government without which the nation could not have hoped to walk erect in the eyes of the world. It was as close as any group of American men have come to a prophetic political philosophy.

Just Between Us

—By Bobby Westbrook

This seems to be a peculiar time of year to be talking about used Christmas cards but they continue to be a problem, especially around house-cleaning time. They're far too pretty to throw away, but after a while they're a fire hazard in the attic.

Anyway, I see where the Christian Pals Class of the Stroudsburg Methodist Church are collecting them from their own members to be sent to the Welfare League for retarded children. And if the Christian Pals should suddenly find themselves snowed under an avalanche of cards, don't tell them who told you.

But used Christmas cards aren't the only thing that create problems at house-cleaning time. What do you do about the things that collect in the bottom of empty vases? There are little wheels and knobs that look as if they came off something important and single ear-rings and a valve for pumping up a football and stray buttons and any number of keys.

As sure as you throw them away, you'll find that they belong to something important that you can't fix or open without them. And if you pack them in a box, the box disappears. But there may come a time when you'll want to use that vase this summer.

The children's rooms are always a problem, too. This year I'm going to get rid of some of this junk, you promise yourself. You get rid of it as far as a box in the garage where gradually piece by piece it finds its way back into the house.

Only solution I can see is to trade house-cleaning with somebody else. You can discard somebody else's dance programs and old magazines and the negatives that have turned black with age without any sentimental twinges at all. And no doubt they could do the same for you.

New Plan of Administration In Education To Be Explained At PTA County Council Today

An explanation of the proposed program of reorganization for administrators of education in Pennsylvania will be brought to the meeting of the Monroe County Council of Parents and Teachers to be held at the Paradise School in Swiftwater at 8 o'clock.

John C. Litts, county superintendent of schools, and Walter Sebring, assistant superintendent will both be there to set forth the details of the proposed reorganization and its effects in Monroe County. They have been requested by the Pennsylvania Co-operative Program in Educational Administration to present the provisions to those concerned in all the schools of the county.

Because of the immediate importance of the problem, the county council changed its planned program to permit the county officials to present the new plans to as many schools as possible at once. The presidents of all local PTA units as well as the regular delegates are asked to be present and to bring with them, if possible, representatives of local school boards and other interested persons.

Mrs. James Kitchen Jr. will preside at the business meeting.

"Everything You Need When You Need It" NEXT TO SHERMAN THEATER—STROUDSBURG

Shakespearian Readings Given For Barrett Club

Barrett — Informal Shakespearian readings, given by members of the Stroudsburg American Association of University Women under the direction of Mrs. Harold Flagler, were presented for the Barrett Woman's Club and their guests on Thursday night in the East Room of the Inn at Buck Hill Falls, repeating the success of the performance they gave in Stroudsburg.

Selected and arranged by Mrs. Flagler, the program was titled "Some Delinations of Women by Shakespeare." It included scenes from "The Merchant of Venice," "The Taming of the Shrew," "Julius Caesar," "Othello," "Antony and Cleopatra," and "Henry VIII." Elizabethan music by Wendy Mazer set the mood for the various scenes.

Done in the manner of Charles Laughton's "Drama Quartet," the program was presented with simplicity and charm and the scenes were effectively selected. In addition to Mrs. Flagler and Mrs. Mazer, the group included Mrs. Harry Smith, Mrs. Helen Calkins, Mrs. Roger Dunning, Mrs. Harold Edwards, Mrs. Glenn Sanborn II and Mrs. J. L. Cohen.

Preceding the program, a short business meeting of the Woman's Club was held when committee reports were given and plans announced for the club's card party to be held April 27, and the annual luncheon to be held May 18 at Swiftwater Inn.

These are the days when you begin to hum "April Showers" and think in terms of Irving Berlin's "Easter Parade." The days when you can once again say to the little one of the family, "Don't do that, darling, or the Easter bunny might not come." This is the time of year when you look at your children and think, "Wouldn't it be wonderful to have a big pile of thousand dollar bills, and just go on a mad spending spree, buying them everything they want?"

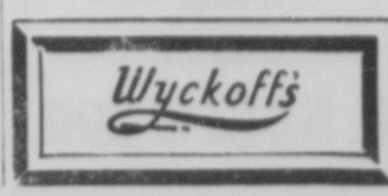

When spring and Easter are so near, you have the same heady, intoxicating feeling that comes to you at sixteen when you're violently in love for the first time in your life and feel as though even the highest star is in easy grasp if only you stand tiptoe... and even though you've come a long way since teen-age you begin to feel that maybe even your wildest dream wouldn't be impossible if you'd set forth dressed in something new, topped by a cream-puff of a hat.

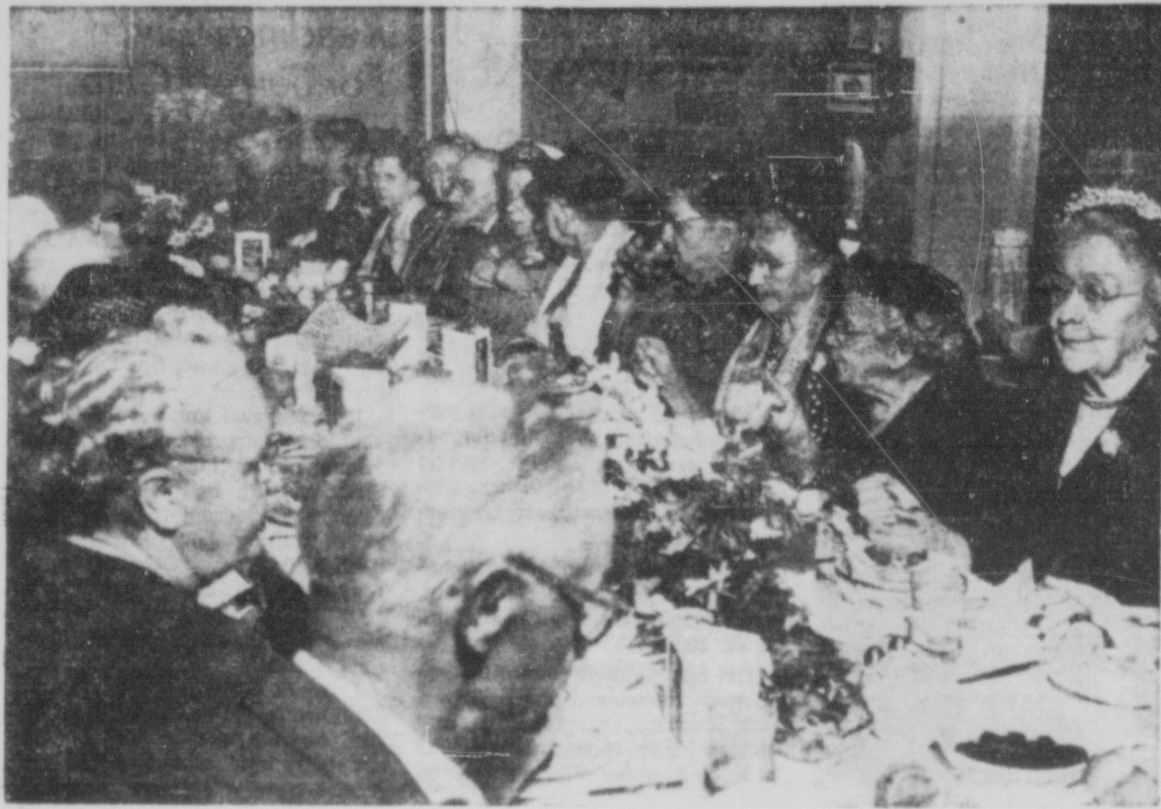

This is the time of year you become more than ever aware of the things about you—the freshness of the bulb sprouts, the tender unfolding of the leaves, the heartcatching beauty of the first hyacinth, and the fragrance everywhere. And because the flowers aren't yet blooming in your backyard, you gaze with appreciation and longing into the florist's windows, and linger, sniffing, around the cosmetic counter.

Spring is a wonderful, glorious thing... and spring at Wyckoff's is delectable and enticing, even if you find it in the artificial posies on the accessories counter, and the exotic new bottles of "Suspicion" just across the aisle. When there's spring in your heart, there's spring in your step—so why not march with us in that Easter parade?

When a Wyckoff employee was asked by her boy friend what she'd like as a present this past weekend, she said, "A mink coat would do nicely... so would blue shoes and blue gloves." She didn't receive exactly that, but the result was very gratifying. For blue shoes, she was given tiny, doll-sized booties; the gloves were beautiful navy nylons from Laura Faber's department, and as for the mink coat—Well, she settled happily for a dark velvet bow dangle with mink tails from our accessories counter... Walter Wyckoff, Edna Brockman and Mr. E. H. Wyckoff were having their troubles yesterday trying to learn where they will meet the Queen Mary for the Travel Bureau tour of Europe. Five wonderful weeks away! Imagine, I'm not usually an envious person, but at this point it seems to me that some folks have all the luck!... Walter tells me he's going to forward a few Shopper columns from Europe. Hope one of them arrives by April 9th—that's the day my children and I will be attending the circus, if possible... Andrew McCarthy mentioned a recent conversation with Mrs. George Hay, who told him that back around the time of World War I Wyckoff's laid linoleum in her home—the first job of that kind handled by the late Dan Newell. Prior to that time, Tommy Kinehart was the linoleum man. Calling Mrs. Hay on the phone yesterday, I asked, "How is that linoleum today—can you still use it?" She said she not only can but does. "It never did wear out," she explained. "The color wore off in spots, but it's still without a tear, and we use it now in our attic." See what I mean when I talk about Wyckoff's quality merchandise?

HUNDREDS of years of customer service are represented here as A. B. Wyckoff store plays host to some 185 area residents who have shopped at the Stroudsburg firm for 50 years or more. (Daily Record Photo)

A. B. Wyckoff Store Honors 185 Fifty-Year Customers

Addressing 185 "Fifty Year Customers" gathered at the Wyckoff tearoom last night, Chester G. Booth, of Washington, D. C., paid tribute to Ernest H. Wyckoff, host, as "a merchant prince comparable to Edward Filene, John Wanamaker, and Marshall Field."

Mr. Booth, director of customer services for Woodward and Lothrop, one of the nation's leading department stores, spoke informally as a resident of East Stroudsburg.

"My association with Mr. Wyckoff and this store has been long and gratifying," he remarked, "and I have always been surprised and pleased to note the progressive policies of the management. We must not overlook the fact that the principles behind the merchandise count as much as the merchandise, and we are all proud of having Mr. Wyckoff as a part of our Monroe County, doing the great things that he is doing, not only in merchandising but from a civic standpoint as well."

The turkey dinner served amid a profusion of spring flowers arranged in wicker cornucopias, was Mr. Wyckoff's tribute to his faithful friends and customers celebrating the store's 79th anniversary celebration. It fell on the eve of his departure for Europe with a party of 34 Wyckoff association members and friends.

Gaiety and reminiscence sparked the event, with Mrs. C. B. Staples drawing the greatest laugh when she, as the oldest guest, presented Mr. Wyckoff with a large, toy airplane to celebrate his recent "conquest of air."

Mrs. Staples, who recently observed her 94th birthday, spoke of her earliest memories of the Wyckoff family.

"Why I've known the Wyckoffs almost 90 years," she declared, "because I couldn't have been more than 4 when I'd skip through Quaker Alley and watch Daniel Wyckoff loading the old Conestoga wagon with merchandise. Oh, I remember very well, and I'm sure that tonight if my eyes were a bit clearer, I'd recognize a great many faces of other people who could do a lot of remembering too."

Mrs. Staples was presented a large, purple orchid. A corsage of spring flowers was given to Mrs. A. Y. Hoffman, of East Stroudsburg, 92, the second oldest guest.

All guests over 80 were presented boxes of candy. Among the 40 or more in this category were Mrs. Rita Hunsicker, Mrs. Elinor Heckman, Mrs. Edith Browne, Mrs. Oscar Geissinger, Mrs. Elizabeth Parker, Mrs. Harry Dreher, Mrs. Daisy Neipert, Mrs. Alice Shiffer, Mrs. Florence Lake, Mrs. Cicero Gearhart, Mrs. D. J. Griffith, Mrs. Nettie Brown, Mrs. Estella Rice, Mrs. Amy Imbt, Mrs. M. O. Smith, William J. Hamblin, Mrs. Harriet Heberling, Mrs. Angelina Custard, Miss Alice Slutter, Mrs. Teeter, Mrs. Hattie Williams, Miss Mary Ann Hunt, Mrs. Oscar King, and Mrs. Sallie Henry. Every guest received a small cloth flower boxed in plastic.

Addressing his guests after the dinner, Mr. Wyckoff spoke of his appreciation for their loyalty and good-will throughout the years. "Without the customers, where would any business be?" he asked. He told of the efforts he and his employees have put forth to make Wyckoff's a truly fine store worthy of serving them, and then added wryly, "But if I don't start spending more time at home, maybe I'll be getting a cut in my pay check."

Nevertheless he pointed out, much of his traveling is done in the interests of the store. Painting a vivid picture of life in nations overseas, he described the making of the fine chinas, ceramics, laces and glass that have found their way to Wyckoff departments.

"If we all go along trying to live up to that old golden rule," he said, "we're all bound to come out all right. In parting may I say 'Goodbye and God bless you.' Thank you all for coming and

Gold Standard Restoration Plan Opposed

Washington (AP)—The Treasury and the federal reserve System joined forces yesterday in opposing a proposal to put the United States back on the gold standard at this time.

W. Randolph Burgess, deputy to the secretary of the Treasury, also opposed a move by Sen. McCarran (D-Nev.) to raise the price of gold. Such a boost, he told a Senate Banking subcommittee, would give Russia "a glorious handout."

The Russians recently have been selling large quantities of gold in Western Europe, and Burgess said that for the United States to hike the price of gold would be to play into their hands.

Burgess and William McChesney Martin Jr., chairman of the board of governors of the Federal Reserve System, centered their attention on a bill by Sen. Bridges (R-NH) to restore the gold standard, abandoned by this country in 1933.

Burgess said the Treasury is "unalterably opposed" to the move under present conditions of Moscow-inspired world unrest. He added it would be a good thing to do in cooperation with other countries in more settled times.

Burgess said so far as he knows the White House shares this opposition. Under questioning, he said he couldn't say whether President Eisenhower's opposition is "unalterable."

Several members of the subcommittee, which is headed by Sen. Bricker (R-Ohio), noted that the 1932 Republican platform pledged work for restoring a world economy stable enough to permit a return to the gold standard.

marked plane landing on the airstrip to fly out the wounded.

The attack was made in a drizzling rain. The French sent one fork westward from the heart of Dien Bien Phu to link up with troops from the northwest and converge on the villages of Ban Ong Pet and Ban Ban.

The French poured thousands of tank and artillery shells into the trenches and straw-thatched huts. Then hard-bitten veterans of the French Foreign Legion spearheaded the infantry drive into the heart of the villages.

French Forces Kill Thousand Red Besiegers

Hanoi, Indochina (AP)—French Union forces unleashed a smashing weekend assault on the Red-led besiegers of Dien Bien Phu killing an estimated 1,000 Vietminh in an armored thrust across the dusty Indochina plain.

The lightning strike, launched late Sunday, was the first major French counter-attack since the rebels stormed the northwest bastion March 13 under raking French fire that killed at least 3,000 attackers.

Sunday's assault was launched after the Vietminh had ignored all appeals for a cease-fire to enable the embattled French to evacuate their wounded.

Spearheaded by tanks and mobile artillery, French foot troops surged into two villages fringing the dust bowl plain west of the fortress and wiped out every rebel in sight in two hours of savage hand to hand fighting. The French set their own losses at only 20.

Aided by massive air bombings, the Union forces also destroyed a long string of heavy antiaircraft batteries which the Vietminh have been using to hammer French air stations and blast every Red Cross may I hope that every one of you will be back again next year."

Background music from the light operas was presented on two pianos by Dorothy Dunn and Douglas Gordon. Table decorations were arranged by Amy Eilenberger and Mr. Gordon; Mrs. Dunn and Mrs. Grace Grace were in charge of arrangements. Mrs. Edna Brockman was chairman of reservations, and on the reception committee were Mrs. Helen Mitchell, Miss Laura Fabel, Harold Albert, Arthur Widmer, and Madelyn Maloney.

Vocal music was presented by the Decemettes of Stroudsburg High School under direction of Numa Snyder.

Mr. Wyckoff, in paying tribute to their excellence and the efforts of Mr. Snyder, presented them with a monetary gift of appreciation.

Invocation was offered by E. Holt Wyckoff. Mrs. Hazel Henning head of the tea room, supervised the dinner preparations, and J. L. Kerlin, general manager, introduced Mr. Booth.

Cancer Workers Gather

sible development of additional chemicals which will be less toxic and which will be more beneficial to the leukemia patient. At present the disease, which occurs most often in children, is nearly always fatal.

Throughout his address, during which he depended upon statistics developed by Dr. Charles Cameron of the ACS medical and research staff and other leading cancer specialists, Dr. Harris emphasized the importance of catching cancer early if the patient is to be saved.

Early diagnosis and treatment of cancer, he said, will mean the difference between life and death for the patient, many times.

On completion of his talk, Dr. Harris turned the meeting over again to David Miller chairman of this year's Cancer Crusade.

Goals for all areas of the Cancer

Crusade have been advanced 10 per cent this year, Miller said. Whereas last year's Monroe County goal was $4,000 this year a goal of $4,400 has been set.

Miller began his orientation with a breakdown of the "way in which money retained on the local level last year was spent during 1953-54."

This was the breakdown in 1953: Research—26 per cent; service—35 per cent; education—23 per cent; administration and financing the April Crusade—eight per cent each.

Miller told the captains and workers that the more money collected in the local drive, the more money remaining within the county the provision of service to local cancer patients.

If the organization collects "up to 75 per cent of its quota," he said, 40 per cent of the total will remain in the county while the State gets 20 per cent, research gets 25 per cent and the national organization takes 15 per cent.

Monroe will get to keep 55 per cent of the total amount collected, however, Miller said, if the local unit exceeds its 1954 goal.

The campaign chairman pointed out that "62 persons are known to have died of cancer in Monroe County last year—accounting for 16 per cent of all deaths locally."

This figure might be "considerably higher," he indicated, if all cancer deaths were reported.

"During the Korean War," Miller said, "cancer killed 25 times as many as the total American war dead." War deaths, he said, were 25,000. Deaths from cancer during the same period — 650,000 Miller said.

The Monroe County Cancer Crusade begins April 1. It continues throughout the month of April which has been set aside as Cancer Crusade month by act of Congress.

Workers will make collection reports to the American Cancer Society Unit headquarters at 615 Sarah St., Stroudsburg each Wednesday either by mail, in person or by telephone.

Department To Assist Potato Men

By Richard L. Graves

Harrisburg (AP) — Pennsylvania's potato growers will be backed by the U. S. Agriculture Department in attempting to overcome 1953 marketing losses during the coming season.

Secretary Ezra T. Benson said the department is joining with the potato industry in a promotion campaign, to begin April 1, designed to overcome industry-wide problems.

Commonwealth potato growers were particularly hurt last year by the double pressure of drought, which cut their production, and heavy production in other parts of the nation.

The Pennsylvania crop was the smallest in over 60 years, while the marketing competition was the stiffest of the post World War Two years.

At the same time Benson reported that the remainder of the 1953 crop throughout the country will be disposed of "in the interest of relieving the disorderly market conditions now confronting producers."

Under the program Benson outlined, eligible institutions and welfare agencies will be allowed to make limited purchases. A diversion payment program will also be instituted to encourage use of potatoes by starch and flour manufacturers.

Meanwhile, the Pennsylvania Cooperative Potato Growers, Inc., the Commonwealth's major potato marketing organization, has renewed pleas to producers to put the stress in 1954 production on quality rather than quantity.

The government is presented by law from putting potatoes under price supports, but it may use customs receipts to purchase potatoes for welfare programs.

Easing Trade Restrictions May Highlight Discussions At Geneva Conference In April

By J. M. Roberts Jr.
Associated Press New Analyst

The interest in trade being shown by Russia and the Western Allies suggests that it may become one of the prime factors in the Geneva Conference next month. The discussions now under way between the Allies have two major facets.

In the first place, there is a strong desire in France and Britain, and among other members of the North Atlantic Treaty organization, to persuade the United States to liberalize the embargo list purely for the benefits which they could obtain through trade itself.

Secondly, there seems to be a widespread feeling that, if the Allies have anything at all with which to bargain at Geneva, it may be trade.

It will not be surprising if France comes up with a direct request that she be allowed to offer diplomatic recognition and trade with Red China as part of her bargaining for a truce in Indochina. Britain, of course, has been anxious all the time for a revival of trade with China, and that was the chief factor when she extended diplomatic recognition to Peking before the Korean War.

The United States is still determined that she will not trade with Red China as long as the Peking regime has done nothing to get out from under the label of "aggressor" with which she has been tagged by the United Nations.

There is a possibility, however, that in order to permit some give and take at Geneva, she would be willing to reduce some of the pressure she has been exerting to keep the other countries in line. She has never demanded that they stop all trade, but only trade in strategic materials.

Harold Stassen is in London now discussing the easing of restrictions on trade with Russia and the European satellites. He is urging the Allies not to try to go too far. There might be a clamp-down in Congress on the foreign aid program if they did. But there is a general feeling that some relaxation is to be expected.

The Chinese question is expected to come up later when a group of American experts visits Paris.

There is probably a realization on all sides, however, that a bargaining power would be lost if too much were done before the Geneva meeting.

Nor would it be wise to move too swiftly until there is some indication of what Congress is likely to do about the general American trade program which President Eisenhower will outline this week. That program will have a bearing on the trade needs of all the countries involved.

It seems clear, however, that the Allies have neither political nor territorial plums which can be offered in return for settlements in Korea and Indochina. Trade is about the only point left open, and there is no indication of just how highly the Communists value that.

Survivors Of Flaming Ship Resume Homeward Voyage; Praise Rescue Ship Crews

Algiers, Algeria (AP) — More than 1,600 British servicemen many wearing borrowed French uniforms resumed their homeward voyage yesterday still shaken by their close call with death aboard the flaming troopship Empire Windrush.

The Britons along with more than 100 wives and children filed aboard the Royal Navy aircraft carrier Triumph still echoing praises for crewmen of the four rescue ships that plucked them from the sea around the 14,651-ton transport Sunday in one of the most spectacular rescues in naval history.

The only fatalities were four crewmen who died when an engine room explosion sent flames racing through the stricken ship 20 miles off the North African coast.

The soldiers, sailors and airmen en route to Britain on leave or for discharge had been landed at Algiers little more than 24 hours earlier by the rescue ships.

A few were injured slightly, some were in nightclothes or simply draped with towels.

They had been aroused from sleep early Sunday by the engine blast.

As if rehearsing a demonstration of how to act in an emergency, the passengers and crew quickly obeyed the order of Capt. William Wilson to abandon ship.

Crews of British, Dutch, Italian and Norwegian cargo ships which rushed to pick them up were astonished by their calm.

The Empire Windrush, gutted, lacking its funnel and much of its superstructure, and still burning, was left drifting in the Mediterranean. Yesterday, French coastal vessels which trailed it said the Empire Windrush still floats and may be towed to Gibraltar by the British.

Several British officers declared there was no question of sabotage—that the troopship's engines were badly worn and there had been three mechanical breakdowns between Singapore and the Mediterranean.

What do automobile sales records mean to me?

them at a price that puts them within easy reach of a great many people.

I know that mass production is mighty important.

It's the same way with cars. Mass production methods bring down the cost and bring up the quality. In fact, that's what made the horse and buggy past history.

Check.

Naturally, the car manufacturer who sells the most, builds the most. And, through bigger production, he enjoys greater efficiency and effects bigger economies. These savings can be passed along to you in terms of higher quality and lower cost.

Now you're talking my language.

That's where the automobile sales records come in. You see, more people buy Chevrolets than any other car—and they've been doing it for years. During 1953, for example, 226,213 more people bought Chevrolets than the second place car. And today there are over two million more Chevrolets on the road than any other make. More Chevrolets are bought, so Chevrolets build more cars, so Chevrolet can build them better and sell them for less. And don't forget that as a part of General Motors, Chevrolet shares the industry's greatest facilities for engineering and research and all the advantages of greater purchasing power.

Sounds reasonable.

It is. Chevrolet, you know, is America's lowest-priced line of cars. And for 1954 it offers more things more people want than ever before. There's new beauty, for example, and new power—to say nothing of money-saving gasoline mileage. In addition, you can have any or all of the automatic power features you want as extra-cost options.

This gets better and better.

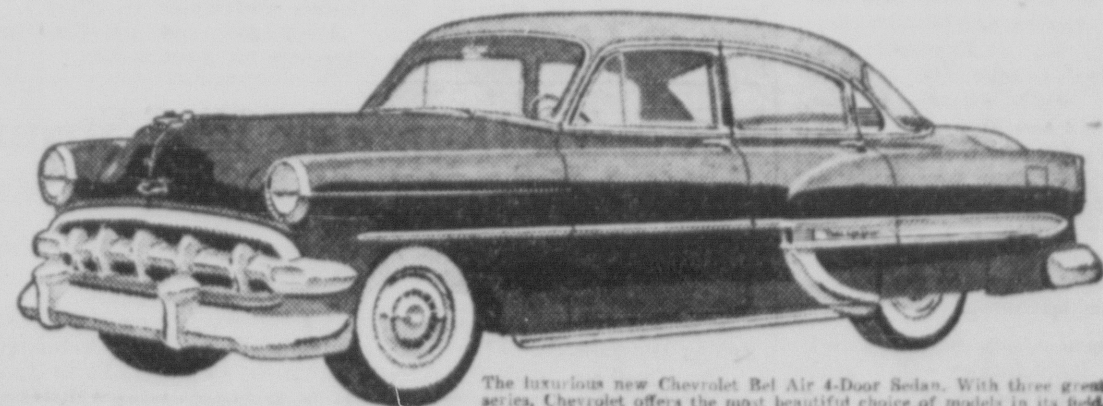

Chevrolet's sales leadership means you get more for your money. And it means something else that's mighty important to you.

What's that?

It means that a whole lot of people agree with your choice when you choose Chevrolet, and . . . Hey, where are you going?

To take a good look at that new Chevrolet, of course!

The luxurious new Chevrolet Bel Air 4-Door Sedan. With three great series, Chevrolet offers the most beautiful choice of models in its field.

Life of Riley

Gold Medal Basketball Tournament action that came to an end on the Stroudsburg High's court last Wednesday was marked with success from start to finish, both from the angle of financial gains and calibre of play. There are several reasons for the success of the tournament this year, but from this scribe's point of observation it was the presence of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College students in the field that turned the trick. Those residents of Normal Hill gave the tournament field the balance it has needed in recent years.

Although none of the teams composed of college players could outscore the Stroudsburg Poconos, they did add the dash, hustle and strength that the tournament has needed in recent years. Players such as Tony Black, Ray Kaseman, John Sloan, Nick Gatto, Tom Davis, Dick Merring, Frank Stull, Al Bartholomew, Walt Bjorn and others from ESSTC drew notice in the tournament and certainly made the field the strongest it has been in many campaigns and possibly the strongest it has been in the past eight or 10 years.

College players have been greeted with anything but open arms in recent years, due to the behavior of some college players in a tourney held almost immediately after World War II had turned to history. But, this year the committee decided to welcome the college boys into the field, provided that not more than two varsity men appeared on any one team. The decision was possibly the best ever handed down by any committee and the college kids did wonders to heal that gaping wound that has existed since the ill-fated tournament of several years back.

It has long been this reporter's contention that college students should have been allowed to play in the Gold Medal Tournament, providing that only one or two varsity men are allowed on one team and providing that the college schedule of events in no way interfered with the routine of the tournament. That unpleasant tournament of several years back should be forgotten, as the students of those days have long since departed from Normal Hill. It isn't fair to punish the ESSTC students of today for something that occurred before they had even departed from high school ranks.

This scribe is also pleased with the fact that each entry in the Monroe County Softball League is allowed to feature two ESSTC students during the coming campaign. According to information received by this column over the weekend, all members of the Wayne County Conference are willing to admit Millard and Matamoros, both of Pike County, to the circuit. But, the obstacles of traveling distance and scheduling may turn out to be too big to allow the entry of Millard and Matamoros to the already large circuit.

Chris Kitsos, rookie member of the Chicago Cubs, is making a determined bid for the short-stop post this season. Kitsos was one of the rawest rookies in the class "D" North Atlantic League in 1947, when he was a member of the Kingston, N. Y. club. Manager George Scherger was always giving Chris special attention and it apparently is paying off. Kitsos was a member of the Brooklyn farm system at that time. The new Allentown entry in the class "A" Eastern League is currently training at DeLand, Fla., and is at home in the Hospital Building.

George Condrick, a winter resident of Tannersville and a former pitcher with the Stroudsburg Poconos, combined with Dennis Reeder and Jack Fascholtz to pitched Rochester to a 10-0 victory over Columbus, O. recently. Rochester is a member of the International League, while Columbus campaigns in the American Association. Both circuits are of the "AAA" rating. Both clubs are currently training at Daytona Beach, Fla. Horace Garner, hard hitting Negro outfielder who played with Harry Warner, Reeder, will probably sit out the coming season.

Garner had surgery performed to correct a knee injury last winter and according to recent reports it's very doubtful that the Boston Braves' farm hand, listed for Toledo, will be able to play this season. Garner and Warner played together at Evansville Ind., Three-I League, and Jacksonville, South Atlantic League, in 1952 and 1953 respectively. Rufus Crawford, the hard hitting fly chaser who made an outstanding home run mark for Scranton two years ago, was optioned to Buffalo, International League, by the Detroit Tigers last week.

Norman Camp and Jim Barnhardt, both former right handed pitchers in the class "D" North Atlantic League, now defunct, are on the roster of the Indianapolis entry in the American Association at the present time. Camp formerly pitched for Bloomington, N. J., while Barnhardt, a winter resident of Easton, opened his professional career with Bangor.

Weston Opens Title Series With Nod Over Poconos

Stroudsburg Falls Before Late Spurt

Easton — Weston A. C. backed the Stroudsburg Poconos right against the wall in the Blue Mountain League basketball playoffs last night, as the regular season title holder scored a 77-68 victory over the Poconos here at Shull Junior High.

The Poconos now face elimination from the championship series unless the charges of Coach Tom Shiffer come up with a victory tomorrow night, at Stroudsburg High. The series is being based on the best two out of three games.

Stroudsburg held a 62-58 lead with three minutes remaining in the ball game, but the host aggregation scored six points to two for the opposition in the next minute to even the count at 64-64.

Weston went on a scoring rampage in the last two minutes, racking up 13 counters to four for the Poconos. The home-town sharpshooters missed only one shot in the last two minutes of action.

Early Advantage
The Weston contingent held a 23-16 over Stroudsburg, the number two team in the final standings of regular season warfare, at the end of the first period. The Easton club improved its standing with a 14-10 edge in the second round and enjoyed a 37-26 advantage at halftime.

Stroudsburg, led by Henry "Hank" Stettler, Al Adelmann and Jim "Bunky" Smith reduced its deficit to two points at the three-quarter mark, 47-45, with a 19-10 bulge in the third period scoring. Although the Poconos held the upper hand at one point, Weston had the better of the scoring in the last quarter, 30-23.

Stettler and Adelmann led the Stroudsburg scoring with 19 and 18 tallies. Werner and Misero paced the winning Weston quintet with 21 and 17 counters.

Bantam King Defeats Sinn

Snyder, Australia (P) — World bantamweight champion Jimmy Carruthers outpointed fellow Australian, Bobby Sinn, last night in a 12-round non-title fight at Sydney Stadium.

Bad Out
It was a grueling bout for Carruthers, who received a bad cut over the eye in the third round and who almost was withdrawn from the conflict because of the heavy flow of blood from the gash. The champion weighed 119½ and Sinn, who holds the Australian bantamweight crown, weighed 118½.

Redlegs Rally To Trip Yankees

Tampa, Fla. (P) — Ted Kluszewski lofted a two-run homer over the rightfield wall in the ninth inning yesterday to give Cincinnati a 9-8 victory over the New York Yankees.

Lead Fades
The World Champions exploded 15 hits, including homers by Eddie Robinson, Gil McDougald and Bob Cerv, and had piled up an 8-1 lead at the end of seven innings.

Giants Clip Indians, 4-1

Tulsa, Okla. (P) — A drop to 38-degree weather failed to cool off the New York Giants, and Leo Durocher's men again defeated the Cleveland Indians 4-1 yesterday to make it eight out of 10 over their spring rivals.

Jansen Shines
Larry Jansen, 33-year-old right-hander, showed the way for the Giants with a five-inning shutout pitching stint.

Youth To Dominate East Stroudsburg High Baseball Team

Coach Jack Kist is currently building an East Stroudsburg High baseball team that will be made up for the most part of freshmen and sophomores, with a few juniors and seniors sprinkled among the ranks.

The Cavaliers worked outside for the third time this season yesterday and all 40 candidates were put through a brisk workout.

Kist features several returning veterans, chief among which is Bill Sommers, youthful right handed pitcher. The junior currently heads an uncertain mound staff that may feature Bob Kupis-

Maguire Explains New Cage Rules To Officials

Phillipsburg — Dr. Frank P. Maguire, commissioner of Pennsylvania Interscholastic Athletic Association officials and a resident of 229 E. Brown St., East Stroudsburg, explained the new basketball rules as adopted recently in Kansas City to the Easton Chapter of PIAA and Interscholastic Athletic Association Basketball Officials last night. The annual dinner meeting took place here at the Phillipsburg Elks.

Maguire, a member of the National Rules Committee, explained the new foul shooting rule, which he termed "the one-or-two foul rule". The new version gives the foul shooter a bonus of one shot if he converts the initial attempt. If the first attempt is missed there is no second shot awarded.

This rule replaces the controversial "one-for-one" rule of the past two campaigns.

Maguire pointed out that the new ruling makes fouling more costly than at any time in bas-kethall history and it will also prevent teams from deploying men down court on the first shot and then recalling the men for the second attempt.

The PIAA commissioner also pointed out that the new "time out" rule has been changed slightly. A player calling time out next season must have possession of the ball and not merely someone on his team as in the past.

Maguire revealed that some progress is being made in the reduction of fouls, as the number of personal fouls in the 1952-1953 campaign showed a decrease for the first time in 13 years.

D. L. Learn, chairman of District 11, also spoke briefly and pointed out that basketball is gaining by leaps and bounds as a spectator sport. Learn revealed that class "A" playoff games alone in District 11 drew 20,954 paying customers.

William Anderson, athletic director at Lafayette and former outstanding basketball coach at Lower Merion, was also a guest at the gathering. Ed Christman, Nazareth, served as toastmaster. Officers for next season were introduced. Salvatore Patti took a bow as president, while Ed Smith was announced as vice president and William Riley as secretary - treasurer. Salvatore Patti succeeds Steve Patti in the top office.

John Heard, Bangor, and Don Smith, Nazareth, were the only Lehigh - Northampton League schools represented. Phillipsburg and Easton schools were well represented at the largely attended affair.

Barrett Dumps Stroudsburg Midgets, 29-12

Canadensis — Temple, 1954 champion of the Barrett Lions Midget Basketball League, completed the season's play last night with a 10-4 victory over Lehigh, here on the Barrett High court.

A special contest involving Barrett and Stroudsburg Midget teams rounded out the season last night, with the host Barrett quintet scoring a convincing 29-12 verdict over the Stroudsburg club.

Billy Manos was the big offensive gun in the tripleheader.

Cubs Fire Cavaretta; Name Hack

Dallas (P) — The Chicago Cubs last night fired Phil Cavaretta as manager.

Cavaretta was relieved of his post by Wil Matthews, director of playing personnel of the Chicago organization. The only reason given was that "it was for the best interests of all concerned."

The firing came after the Cubs had lost a 4-3 exhibition game here yesterday afternoon to the Baltimore Orioles.

Cavaretta will be replaced by Stan Hack, 47, former third baseman of the Cubs who for the past three years has managed Los Angeles of the Pacific Coast League. Hack will take over at Shreveport Wednesday when the Cubs play Baltimore.

Jackson Knocks Bucceroni Out Of Championship Shot In Sixth

Brooklyn, N. Y. (P) — Tommy Jackson, a buzz saw puncher who has been fighting for only 20 months, last night became an outstanding heavyweight challenger by stopping Dan Bucceroni, third ranking contender from Philadelphia, in 1:58 of the sixth round of a 10 rounder at Eastern Parkway Arena. Jackson weighed 191½ and Bucceroni, 192.

The 22-year-old New York Negro, a two to one underdog, wore down the hard-punching, 26-year-old Bucceroni with a non-stop attack that had Dan reeling and bleeding with his right eye almost completely shut.

End
Referee Al Beri stopped the fight after the superbly conditioned youngster pounded Bucceroni with a dozen straight blows.

Bucceroni, who was almost a cinch to get a title shot in September, risked his chances for a $10,000 guarantee. He blew it all against a rough, tough fighter who never stopped throwing leather from the opening bell.

Bucceroni, winner of nine in a row over the last 22 months and a knockout victor in 30 of his 50 previous fights, hit the durable Jackson with his Sunday punch time and again and it never stopped Tommy for a moment.

Jackson, nicknamed "Hurricane," "Animal" and "The Beast" for his ceaseless punching and his ability to absorb punishment, scored his fifth straight triumph and his third in a row over a "name" opponent.

In the last two months he stopped Rex Layne in six rounds and trounced Clarence Henry. He earned a number seven rating for those wins and now he ranks up there with Ezzard Charles, Nino Valdes and Roland LaStarza.

This was Jackson's 18th pro fight and his 16th win against a six-round decision loss to Bert Whitehurst and a six round draw with Shirley Pemberton. It was his sixth knockout win.

Blistering
It was a blistering, bruising scrap that had the crowd of 4,200 (gross gate $11,246) hollering all the way. The bout was telecast over the Dumont network. It was the fourth defeat against 46 wins for Bucceroni and only the second time he has been stopped. "I hit him three times hard enough to put him away," said the battered Bucceroni. "He's a good fighter."

"He's inhuman," said Bucceroni's manager, Don Battles. "He hit me hard," said the unruffled Jackson who trains as much as 20 rounds a day. "But every time I came back."

"Now I want Rocky Marciano. I'd do a better job on him than I did on Bucceroni."

Three Matches Listed
Three matches are on the agenda of the East Stroudsburg Ladies' League at Harmon's Recreation today, at 6:45 p. m. Schedule follows:
Alleys one and two — Ballantine's vs. Eagles.
Alleys three and four — Twin County Distributor vs. Brock's.
Alleys five and six — Courtland Beverage vs. Square Bar.

Wayne County Names Stars

Newfoundland — Basketball coaches of member schools and officials who worked games involving the "Name" teams, yesterday selected a Wayne County Conference all-star basketball squad.

No first and second teams were selected, but 10 players were picked to round out the squad.

Bob Lupcho, six-foot, four-inch sophomore who scored 268 points in 20 games, was selected to represent Greene-Dreher-Sterling, while high scoring Bob Fuchs was chosen from the Damascus contingent.

Two Choices
Waymart, champion for the fifth straight season, placed two cagers on the squad in the persons of Wade Keen and Clive Gustin. Hawley, the number two contingent in the final standings, featured Bill Gumble and Joe Gelatti on the all-star list.

Others selected were George Materese, Preston; Dan O'Neill, Pleasant Mount; Howard Bortee, Moscow, and Ron Heater, Lake Township.

Cards Edge White Sox, 4-3

St. Petersburg, Fla. (P) — The St. Louis Cardinals got maximum mileage out of four hits, yesterday to wind up the Florida phase of spring training with a 4-3 victory over the Chicago White Sox.

Runs
The Redbirds bunched a walk, a double by "Rip" Repulski and singles by Ray Jablonski and Joe Frazier for three runs off Bob Keen in the first inning.

Another pass, Stan Musial's hit and an infield out produced the final St. Louis run in the third.

Phillies Crush Dodgers, 19-5

Clearwater, Fla. (P) — The Philadelphia Phillies staged two six-run merry-go-rounds as they lambasted the Brooklyn Dodgers 19-5 yesterday.

Vietin
Billy Loes was the victim of the onslaught in the second and also gave up two runs on Mel Clark's homer in the third. Clem Labine was shelled in the fourth, the second six-run inning. Ken Lehman and Erv Fallica also were hit hard.

New Home May Really Make Different Team Out Of Lovely Browns Who Moved To Baltimore

Editor's Note—This is the fifth in a series of training camp articles that will appear from time to time before the opening of the regular major league season pennant race.

Yuma, Ariz. (AP) Few if any of the experts give the Baltimore Orioles a chance to hurt anyone in the American League pennant race.

They still think of the club as the subject St. Louis Browns, and quite often, and generally inadvertently, they forget and refer to them as the Browns.

Yet veteran Jimmy Dykes has the Orioles off and running, and they have been the surprise of the exhibition period out here in the cactus country.

Comparison

The comparison has been inevitable between the Milwaukee Braves and the wild acclaim in Milwaukee when the Braves moved from Boston, and Baltimore, back in the majors after more than half a century.

Unquestionably the civic enthusiasm in Baltimore will help the Orioles' fire and spirit, just as the Milwaukee brand stimulated Charlie Grimm's Braves.

Fitching is a problem with Baltimore, although the club owns no player on their plights. Some of the Dykes' athletes are not exactly noted as red-hot sprinters in the outfield. Third base has been an issue, but if Vern Stephens can field and hit back to the form he once knew, things will be well and better.

Dykes is still experimenting with his pitching staff, but he figures he can count on a group out of at least seven to lead the way.

Included would be Joe Coleman, Dan Larsen, Marlin Stuart, Dick Littlefield, Duane Pillette, Vern Bickford and Bob Turley. The latter a newcomer who has shown fine promise this spring.

Baltimore bolstered its hopes immensely when Eddie Walkus, the stylish first baseman, was bought from the Phillies for a reported $40,000 or more. Walkus is no living terror at bat but his record shows he is a very dangerous hitter in a clutch.

The Walkus deal was exceedingly opportune because soon after General Manager Arthur Hiers announced the buy it was discovered Dick Kryhoski had broken a wrist bone.

The outfield department is well manned and then some. Dykes has been using Don Lenhardt, the leading hitter this far; Dick Kokos, and Gil Coan. Prominently bidding for attention, however, are Vic Wertz, Jim Fridley, "Chuck" Diering and Sam Mele. Jim Dyke is also listed as an outfielder but can and often does fill in at third.

The catching should be adequate if not very good, with aggressive Clint Courtney, Les Moss and Ray Murray the regulars.

Former Mound Great Enjoys 87th Birthday

Newcomerstown, O. (AP) Cy Young celebrated his 87th birthday yesterday by "sitting at home and reading" letters and cards of congratulation.

Young, who pitched more victories than any other man in major league history, declared he was "waiting for this storm to get over" before making plans for the spring. There was snow on the ground yesterday.

He added that he was "feeling good," and helps with the "chances" although he has a "bad leg."

During the 22 years he pitched, Young won 510 games and lost 313. His best year was 1892 when he had 36 wins for Cleveland, although he won 30 or more games four other times.

Senate Bill Bars 'Filthy' Books, Films

Washington (AP) — Three Republican senators yesterday sponsored legislation designed to clean up what they described as a multi-million-dollar traffic in "insidious filth" purveyed in illicit films and booklets.

Chairman Hendrickson (R-NJ) of a Senate subcommittee on juvenile delinquency said the traffic has become big business running anywhere from 100 to 300 million dollars a year.

Sen. Langer (R-ND) and Sen. Case (R-SD) joined Hendrickson in proposing legislation which would:

One—Set up a mandatory jail sentence of not less than one year for a second offense in dealing with lewd, immoral or licentious material.

Two—Authorize courts to permit the public prosecutor to confiscate and sell at public auction all cameras, presses, trucks, autos and other equipment used by a convicted person in carrying on traffic in lewd material.

Hendrickson said in a speech inserted in the Congressional Record that the target of his attack was not the "salacious literature which frequently adorns our drugstore newsstands."

"What I wish to call to your attention," he said, "is the growing illicit trade across our nation of filthy and perverted films, books, cartoons, pamphlets, recordings and objects of sex depravity so utterly indecent as to shock every civilized American, were he aware of them."

Hendrickson said there have been constantly increasing complaints in almost every major city about the traffic.

He said the subcommittee had information of one operator who started with $300 and built it up to $250,000 two years later. The man, he said, sold his wares for $15 to $100 for a few feet of erotic color film with sound.

Hendrickson said one city destroyed 400,000 feet of such film in a single year.

The New Jersey senator said the situation here in the nation's capital "cries for immediate action," but that the problem is widespread.

State and local laws covering the sale of lewd material are totally inadequate, he said, and federal laws are even weaker.

In addition to illicit movie film, Hendrickson said millions of "almost indescribably pornographic" photos, in color and black and white, are being peddled by dealers in ever increasing numbers.

"Filthy cartoon books in color displaying sexual irregularities are sold by these panders to countless teen agers," he said. "Parties—or rather, sex parties—are inspired by the panders to increase their sales."

'Great Debate' Puzzles Many Capital Tourists These Days

By Arthur Edson

Washington (AP) — Funny thing about the U. S. Senate.

Reporters are forever writing about a "great debate" there. And while many debates are powerful and skillful, the senators actually spend much more time on what could be called the high lob school of oratory.

Thousands of tourists are coming to Washington during this spring season, and some of them will wind up listening to the Senate. So today let's consider a phenomenon that must puzzle them.

The high lob is a tennis term. While warming up, a tennis player will loft the ball high in the air so his opponent can practice smacking it away. Even a dub is likely to look pretty good at this.

Same thing in the Senate. While a senator is talking, those agreeing with him will send up verbal high lob which he can hit for what look like sure point winners.

Nearly all senators engage in this pleasant pastime, but for an illustration we'll choose only one, Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark.). And so you can see how it works, we'll eliminate all the surrounding arguments.

Morse (Ind-Ore): . . .

Fulbright: I agree with the senator's thought.

Morse: . . .

Fulbright: I think that is correct.

Morse: . . .

Fulbright: I think the senator is correct.

Douglas (D-Ill.): . . .

Fulbright: Mr. President, in my opinion, what the senator from Illinois—who certainly knows more about economics than does any other member of our committee, I believe—has said is entirely correct.

Douglas: . . .

Fulbright: The senator from Illinois is right.

Douglas: . . .

Fulbright: The senator is quite right. I appreciate his contribution.

In fairness, it should be said that many a good point is brought out this way that might be otherwise overlooked. Still, a senator agreeably nodding his head can never be mistaken for Mr. Webster replying to Mr. Hayne.

Incidentally, the Senate remains a perfect garden for growing five words where one would do. Consider the extreme politeness of Sen. Dirksen (R-Ill.):

"I should like to address myself briefly to the unfinished business and make some observations thereon, if the overtones in the Senate chamber will subside just a little." Translated from Senate talk, that means: "For heaven's sake, shut up!"

The excellent advancements in eye examination assures a sense of confidence and well being.
